The venerable Peter Stebbins is in a very critical condition at the home of his son, Joseph Stebbins of East Charleston, as the result of a slight fall which he received last Saturday morning. As he is 93 years old and has been feeble for some time, little hope of his recovery is entertained.

George Stratton of Bennington is the owner of a Plymouth Rock rooster that has brought up a brood of fifteen chickens this summer. The mother hen deserted the chickens when they were not a month old and the rooster immediately took them. He called the brood together, scratched for it, and took care of it and in all ways was a genuine mother. The chickens are now old enough to take care of themselves but will gather about the rooster as soon as any danger is feared.

As Wayne Hazen of North Hero was driving into the barn Saturday afternoon last about five o'clock with a big load of oats, the load slid off, Mr. Hazen falling to the ground a distance of about 20 feet and when he struck a fork tine entered his left leg between the knee and hip to a depth of five inches, breaking the fork handle into three pieces. One time also entered the left side just above the hip to a depth of nearly two inches and had not the times taken an upward course the accident must have proved fatal.

A truck jury was drawn Tuesday in the case of G. M. and Marguerite Coggriff vs. Dr. P. E. McSweeney, of Burlington, an alleged malpractice case, but the names of the jurors are withheld for the present. The application for a truck jury was made several days ago on the ground that the testimony in the case was of such a technical nature that a jury of especially picked men would be needed. This case was tried a year ago and occupied four weeks, resulting in a disagreement. It was set for trial last spring but was continued. The case is to come up for trial October 2.

A. E. Richardson, of Roxbury, had a peculiar experience Saturday evening. He had occasion to call on the Rev. Mr. Hall on a matter of business and the last he remembers is Mr. Hall lighting him down the first flight of stairs from his room. The supposition is that instead of going down the second flight of stairs he walked out on the upper veranda and stepped over the railing and fell to the ground. He remembers nothing of the occurrence, however, nor does he remember finding the way to his daughter's house, which he did soon afterward. His face and one arm were badly bruised but he seems to be recovering from his injuries and is able to come up for trial October 2.

Injured by Fall from Wagon. A fall from a wagon resulted in serious injury to Charles, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Harvey, of North Troy. The little fellow was playing in a wagon in the barn at his home and, losing his balance, fell, upsetting a heavy wagon pole standing near, which came down striking him a fearful blow across the body. He was found soon in an unconscious condition, and taken to the house. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the little sufferer was restored to consciousness. There is prospect of his recovery, but he is yet in a very precarious condition.

Woodstock, August 25.—Court cases are now being tried in the Windsor county court here and final adjournment will be taken about the end of this week. The session may, however, run a day or two into next week. Judge Haselton will then take a vacation of one week before opening the Chittenden county September term of court.
